

Sara Bracewell

Sara is our numbers guru at Ingenuity, and in an office full of wordsmiths, speakers and designers, she brings a much needed skill to the team. With her sunny personality and background in accounting and landscape design, Sara offers:

Positivity. Sara respects your individuality and is happy to help you solve problems. Three years spent with her husband in Maui also gives her the relaxed attitude of someone who knows the work will get done, so don't sweat it.

Project Management. After working for an accountant and landscape design firm, Sara has an understanding of how to work with both internal and external clients. She has a grasp of administration as well as the communication skills to deal effectively with people.

Beaming Bookkeeper. It is hard not to smile around Sara. Even when she is crunching the numbers, she will stop to make sure everything is right in your world. Sara will always make sure $2+2 = 4$.
